

A submission may be assigned any of the following final dispositions:

- Filing Withdrawn: Prior to the AZDOI rendering a decision to approve, reject or disapprove a filing, the insurer decides to withdraw its submission. Any noted objections will need to be addressed at a future date or may result in a prior filing being re-opened. If an insurer submits a filing under the wrong, Filing Type, TOI or sub-TOI, the insurer must withdraw and resubmit the filing because SERFF does not allow post-submission changes to the designated Filing Type, TOI or sub-TOI.
- Filing Acknowledged: The AZDOI may acknowledge receipt of a rate or rule filing without rendering an opinion as to whether the filing complies with Arizona law.
- Filing Approved: The AZDOI may approve a form filing that contains all required information and appears to comply with Arizona law.
- Deemed by ARS § 20-398(A): Certain types of filings may be deemed approved if not disapproved within a statute-prescribed timeframe.
- Filing Disapproved: This happens after the AZDOI and the insurer have expressed their respective positions regarding the contents of a filing or an insurer fails to respond to AZDOI-expressed concerns, and the AZDOI believes that the insurer's filing does not comply with Arizona law. The filer may request a public hearing to appeal a disapproval.
- Rejected Filing: The AZDOI may reject a submission if it does not contain sufficient information for the AZDOI to determine whether it complies with Arizona law or objections were not responded to in the time frame given.

Regardless of whether the AZDOI reviews a filing and the final disposition of a reviewed filing, an insurer remains responsible for ensuring that its forms, rates and rules continuously comply with Arizona law, even if AZDOI does not identify deficiencies.

POST-SUBMISSION CHANGES OR UPDATES TO FILINGS

Use a post-submission update if you are only changing the effective date of a form, rate or rule.

You may file post-submission updates to open and closed filings, except:

- You may only file rate/rule changes on a previously submitted filing if the effective date of the filing is in the future.
- Corrections to a previously submitted form filing will only be accepted if the correction is filed within the first thirty days from the filing submission date and the AZDOI reviewer has adequate time to review and approve the change.

Changes, corrections or updates must otherwise be submitted in a new filing with effective dates that are allowed based upon the type of filing.

FILING REOPENING

The AZDOI may reopen a filing under certain circumstances, such as to correct an error the AZDOI made during its review. A filer who wishes to have a filing reopened should
